The Department of Modern Language and Literature offers language, literature and cultural history courses in Chinese, French, German, Japanese and Spanish. Programs are offered leading to a major or minor in French, Asian Language and Studies, Chinese, Japanese, or Spanish. Cross-disciplinary degree programs with the Department of Economics, the School of International Studies, the School of Engineering and the Eberhardt School of Business are also offered. Some literature, civilization, film and interdisciplinary courses are taught in English translation.

Classes, particularly at the intermediate and upper-division level, are small and provide opportunity for a great deal of individualized attention.

The University has chapters of two national honor societies for outstanding work in a language, literature and culture: Pi Delta Phi for French and Sigma Delta Pi for Spanish. The Jan Good Award is presented to winners of an annually posted essay contest in French or Spanish. The MLL Annual Awards night celebrates achievement in all of the above languages.

College of the Pacific Language Requirement

In order to promote an appreciation of diverse cultures and to encourage greater understanding of the English language, the College of the Pacific requires one year of college instruction (two semesters or three quarters) or equivalent training in a language other than English for all students seeking a Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree. Students who transfer to University of the Pacific with fewer than 28 units of transfer credit, or who seek a Bachelor of Science (BS) degree or a Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree, are exempt from this requirement, but are encouraged to cultivate their language skills. Note that two years of college level foreign language is one of several requirements to be eligible for consideration for membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

Ways to meet the Language Requirement:

- Complete second semester language course (11B) or higher level course (23, 25 or 100-series) with a C- or higher at Pacific.
- Complete a transferable full first-year language sequence (equivalent to Pacific’s 11A and 11B) at another college or University with a grade of C or higher.
- Complete full-year sequence of college level American Sign Language with a grade of C or higher.
- Document completion of high school diploma in a language other than English with the approval of the Associate Dean of the College of the Pacific.
- Achieve a score of 4 or higher on AP language exam.
- Achieve a score of 58 or higher on CLEP language exam.
- Achieve appropriate score on written paper test administered in person by the Department of Modern Language & Literature at Pacific to show competency in Chinese, French, German, Japanese, or Spanish. Online tests administered through Canvas are for placement only and may not be used to meet the language requirement. No unit credit is assigned based on testing. Precise placement score information for each language available through the Department of Modern Language & Literature. You must take a proctored, paper exam to test out of the foreign language requirement.

Note: Students who wish to arrange for competency testing in a language not taught at Pacific may go to the College Dean and the Department of Modern Language & Literature for approval of accredited testing. Students are responsible for all arrangements regarding outside testing. Only tests pre-approved by the College of the Pacific are valid for this purpose.

Students with any prior coursework in a language must take the placement exam before taking any courses at Pacific in that language. Students must enroll in the level that corresponds to their placement exam score. Language courses must be taken in sequence after placement. The placement exam may only be taken once in the same language. The only exception to this is when a student must take the proctored paper/pencil exam to place out of the language requirement.

You may register for the proctored exam in WPC Annex, Room 151, the Humanities Hub Office. A Pacific ID is required for registering. For more information, please contact the Humanities Hub at 209.946.2291.

While the University makes every effort to meet student interests and needs, it does not guarantee that every student is able to fulfill this requirement by studying their first choice of language. The University also does not guarantee that students who study languages other than those offered through the Pacific Department of Modern Language and Literature have access to the courses needed to complete the requirement. In some cases, a student who takes language courses not offered by the Department of Modern Language and Literature may also need to pass an approved competency examination in addition to their course work. As with all subjects, students must get prior approval before taking course work or a competency examination outside of the University that they intend to use toward completion of their Pacific degree.

Modern Language and Literature

Departmental Study Abroad Programs

Department-led summer language programs in Italy and China offer students the opportunity to earn credits toward the COP language requirement and/or GE in a total immersion experience. The Italy program offers 8 units of beginning Italian as well as intermediate Italian conversation. The China program, a joint program with the School of Business, offers Chinese language courses at all levels and a China-focused course.

Oral Communication
1. Produce and give descriptive, narrative and/or analytical presentations with all basic structures and tenses in target language.
2. Orally express complex ideas and analyses in target language.
3. Evaluate, analyze, and report on complex texts.

Written Communication
1. Produce a descriptive, narrative and critical essay with all basic structures and tenses in target language.
2. Express complex ideas and analyses in target language.
3. Evaluate, analyze, and integrate academic articles into arguments.

Reading
1. Read and understand target language fiction and non-fiction texts.
2. Classify, summarize, infer, compare, explain, and critique readings.

Culture/Civilization
1. Identify and differentiate major periods of artistic and cultural production.
2. Analyze and synthesize characteristics of literary and cultural texts.
3. Identify, distinguish, and interpret cultural differences, cross-cultural and ethical issues.

Integrated Skills
1. Explain, illustrate, and evaluate critical elements of target language texts in class discussions.
2. Conceive of ideas and opinions and discuss them with others.

Descriptions of Major Programs

The major requirements for all three majors and self-designed majors within the Modern Language and Literature Department are designed so that students with no prior training or those with advanced training are equally well served. The major requirements which are listed separately under each language are the requirements which begin after the student has acquired a strong intermediate proficiency in the language and literature. Thus the primary requirement of any major is the acquisition of the equivalent of four college semesters of a particular language.

The number of advanced courses which constitutes the major is intentionally kept moderate so that a student has the opportunity to begin a language in college. Similarly an advanced student is strongly encouraged to do coursework beyond the minimum courses. The extra coursework that students need for the acquisition of language skills before they can begin the major increases the number of major courses which form the total degree, while it reduces the number of University electives.

Students who major or minor in all languages except Spanish and who study abroad for one semester may count up to 8 units of appropriate courses from an approved program toward the major or minor. Majors who study two or more semesters abroad may count up to 12 units of appropriate coursework. Students who major or minor in Spanish and study abroad for one semester may count up to 12 units of appropriate courses from an approved program toward the major or minor. Majors who major in two or more semesters abroad may count up to 16 units of appropriate course work. Students may petition the department to count additional units from abroad. These petitions are considered on a case-by-case basis. All majors and minors must enroll in at least one advanced course in the target language upon return to meet the major or minor requirements. Only one on-line course may be counted toward major requirements.

Requirements for the Major

French

The curriculum in French includes beginning multi-media based language classes, intermediate courses that focus on culture and language, advanced language and composition courses, surveys of literature and civilization, theme-based advanced courses that cover French and Francophone literature and cinema, and other cross-listed courses such as the History of French Cinema. All courses are in French unless otherwise specified.

The BA in French has two concentration:

1. the Language and Literature Concentration which requires completion of six French courses above the intermediate level which provides background in French civilization, French and Francophone literature and/or film; and
2. the French Studies Concentration which requires five French courses beyond the intermediate level plus three approved related courses in complementary fields.

Approved equivalents of major requirements are acceptable, but at least three (3) advanced courses must be completed in the French section of the Department of Modern Language and Literature. One of these must be completed upon return from study abroad. A student may take no more than one online advanced course to complete the major.

Bachelor of Arts Major in French Concentration in Language and Literature

Students must complete a minimum of 120 units with a Pacific cumulative and major/program grade point average of 2.0 in order to earn the bachelor of arts degree with a major in French and a concentration in language and literature.

Minor in Latin American/U.S. Latina/o Studies

The Latin American and U.S. Latina/o Studies minor is interdisciplinary and is designed to develop an understanding of the cultural, historical, political and social conditions of the region, and also the migrations of peoples and their process of integration and hybridization in the US. In this minor, the students are taught to establish socio-cultural and political connections in these diverse cultural societies from Pre-Columbian times to the challenges of the XXI Century.

1. Language requirement: Students must complete at least 3-4 units in an upper-division course in Spanish. Those students who want to focus on another language related to Latin America (Portuguese or Amerindian languages determined in consultation with the program director) can count 3-4 language units in that language toward the minor.
2. Interdisciplinary requirement: No more than 12 units from the same given discipline.
3. Residency requirement: At least 12 units must be completed at Pacific with a maximum of 8 Study Abroad or transfer units eligible to count toward the minor.
4. Students are strongly encouraged to study abroad in Latin America and/or engage in Spanish-language internship opportunities locally or internationally.

Students must complete a minimum of 20 units and 5-6 courses with a Pacific minor grade point average of 2.0 in order to earn a minor in Latin American/U.S. Latina/o Studies.
